THE CROP YIELD.

AN AVERAGE TAKEN AND PRICES GIVEN.

Information of Importance for Those Contemplating Making Investments or Farming Lands in Texas.

Small grain yields best in Northern, Middle and Western Texas, and grown in the same fields with cotton, corn and tobacco. Enough of corn, oats, wheat, barley and rye is raised by many farmers for their own use and to sell. Not a few raise their own bacon and pork and make their own syrup.

Compared with other grain growing districts the wheat, oats and barley crops of Texas can equal any as to quantity and value of yield per acre. In the Northern Texas in an average year the wheat crop will yield from ten to twenty bushels and frequently more bushels per acre. In isolated cases forty bushels and fifty bushels have been made. Texas wheat ripens earlier in the season and escapes those rusts which wheat and the measured bushel generally weighs from sixty one to sixty eight pounds. The price of wheat is seldom less than 70 cents and often more than $1 per bushel.

Corn yields in an average year from twenty to forty-five bushels per acre and frequently more in rich bottom lands, and sells readily at 30 to 70 cents per bushel.

Oats yield from fifty to sixty bushels per acre and in many instances 120 bushels to the acre have been reported. They are readily disposed of at from 15 to 40 cents per bushel.

Barley and rye yield as well here as anywhere else and measure and weigh and sell at from 50 to 70 cents per bushel.

Cotton is grown as far west as the Colorado river and will mature perfectly on the eighth gallon. This is the great staple cotton-producing state in the Union. In 1892 this State being ranked in 1891 about one-third of the cotton crop of the United States—and valued at nearly $60,000,000. The average farm will produce from one-half to one bale per acre, and a bale per farm, and where the cultivation is thorough a bale per acre has been gathered 'till a number of years in succession.

A bale of cotton generally weighs from 470 to 525 pounds and the price is usually from 6 to 10 cents per pound.

Sorghum yields from seventy five to 300 gallons per acre, and is common Northwest Texas, where the cane attains a high degree of perfection. It is extensively fed to stock. Its saccharine qualities following rapidly after the seeds are gathered.

Various species of broomcorn is found one-third to one per acre, worth from $60 to $80 per ton. Sweet potatoes yield from 100 to 300 bushels per acre and, in common with beets, they often attain enormous dimensions, sweet potatoes weighing from three to five pounds each and beets from eight to thirty-six pounds being common.

Melons, pumpkins, squashes, cucumbers, tomatoes, turnips, etc., are very prolific and large growth. Vegetables of every variety do very well, and where conveyed to local market or quick transportation are very profitable.

THE FIRST NATIONAL BANK

The First national bank is the oldest banking institution in Denton. It was established in December, 1892, and has had a highly satisfactory and successful career of twelve years.

It was organized with a capital stock of $50,000 and to-day the surplus account stands up the swag-ears of $50,000 which is the full legal requirement.

The First national bank occupies the new building, a substantial two-story and basement brick of fine architecture, which was erected in 1893 for the purpose by the bank. It is unexcelled for convenience with good care as to strength and durability. It is the finest bank building in Denton county.

It conducts a splendid frequent vault of most approved pattern and its safe also contains a first-class time-lock safe of highest quality.

The durable character of a bank is as often judged by the permanence of the structure and officials as by its statements, and the First national bank can point with confidence alike to both.

The officers are as follows:

President—R. S. Stuart.

Vice-President—S. B. Davis.

Cashier—T. P. Hickerson.

The following constitute compose the board of directors:

R. S. Davis, D. H. Fry, G. B. Colfax, Joseph Mann, D. Dean, R. S. Stuart and H. F. Sylvester.

Liberal advances, prompt, broad business connections and of positive safety to those who deal with them, combine to offer a financial enterprise with conclusions and all proper accessories.

All business affairs are conducted on principles of honor to merit the good will of its patrons and to invite the business of new customers. All matters of interest of the bank are handled with promptness and care. The correspondence of the bank with the president manifested the care given affairs.

The Chronicle is pleased to congratulate the bank upon its successful career and to commend it to the confidence of banking and business men.

POINDEXTER BOOK STORE.

Mr. T. E. Poindexter is among the leading business men of Denton. He has been in business in Denton, continuously, since 1882, and has built up a trade that is a credit to himself and to the city. He handles a full line of stationery, toilet articles and art goods. He also handles pianos, organs, sewing machines and musical instruments. He has also a fine line of wall paper, and paints, oils and glass. He is a practical painter and paper hanger and has his shop on the west side of the square, where he will be pleased to meet his friends and customers.

TEXAS SCHOOL FUND.

WHAT THE STATE HAS DONE FOR THE CHILDREN.

The Endowment of the Common Schools — The State Permits—The University and its Endowment.

One of the bulwarks of Texas prosperity is the public free school. The system of free schools in Texas is classed as follows:

1. The common school system.
2. The high school system.
3. The university of Texas.

The common school system is a little over five months, and as the state grows the term lengthens. In the independent districts (cities and towns) where a local tax levy is made for school purposes, the control is under the independent district, in this case the state apportionment is paid in to the local authorities, the school terms are longer, and county school officers in no way interfere with the schools.

The state endowment of the common schools is very large, and is worthy the attention of the whole world. It is the largest school fund in the world. It is derived from the following sources: Sale of 3,000,000 acres of land, $14,000,000; 2,000,000 acres bounty lands, $2,000,000; sale of 50,000 acres of vacant lands constitute the state endowment. Public domain, or state lands, having become that area over ranks per acre sold $2,000,000; sale of 50,000 acres of land derived are added to the annual available school fund.

In addition to this, the state has 50,000,000 acres of fine farms and land, which constitutes the county endowment. The interest on this money is invested under the authority of the common school commissioners and the interest from the investment is paid semi-annually to the county superintendent.

Added to this interest on bonds and land sales and the rental from leases the state levies an annual advalorem tax of one and one-quarter mills, the value one-fourth of the assessment tax—an annual per capita of $1.50. In the available school fund. The total amount of available apportioned school fund for the year 1894-95 was $1,643, until January 1, 1894, when Mr. Walker was succeeded as cashier by Mr. R. M. Hall, and Mr. Walker became assistant cashier.

TEXAS NORMAL COLLEGE, DENTON, TEXAS. ERECTED 1891.

Since 1892 the business of the bank has been handled in its only necessary vaults. It began with a capital stock of $50,000, and that now it has a surplus of $50,000, and the net profits over $60,000. The bank has commenced to show its cards and the available cash is $61,

The First national bank controls a large building which it occupies as a banking house on the corner of the square.

The bank's vaults above the public will at once recognize the superiority of the arrangements for the safe keeping and the management of the excellent banking facilities afforded by the bank.

Its popularity is attested by its large deposits, which are at once met by the use of modern and liberal methods.

At the time this paper went to press the bank was preparing to move into its new and handsome quarters on the corner of the square, which it has erected during the past two years. Its new quarters will be one of the finest and handsomest in Denton and the bank will doubtless be greatly benefited by the change.

Business and commercial matters could not be more satisfactorily handled than to-day by the officers of the First national bank, and the public may rest assured that its interests will be carefully guarded.

ALLIANCE SELLING COMPANY.

This is one of the largest and most reliable houses in Denton. Its business is conducted on principles of honor and fair dealing, and its patrons are treated with courtesy and consideration. Its facilities for the handling of cotton are unexcelled, and its charges are reasonable. Its business is conducted with the Texas Cotton Exchange, and it is in touch with the markets of the world. Its business is conducted by Messrs. Hall & Dunn-Cowan.

J. R. BURTON,

NOTARY PUBLIC,

Land Loan and Life Insurance Agent.

City and county property for sale at extremely low Prices and terms to suit the purchaser.

I do a general collecting and rental business.

I have for sale about 6 000 acres of land divided up into 40-acre tracts, which would suit admirably for settlement of a colony.

Correspondence solicited.

Office, East Side Square. Denton, Texas.

Near under more favorable auspices than ever before, with others flying to the breeze. They feel gratified to their many customers throughout the state for their continued patronage, every one of whom will testify to the high merit and popularity of their hose.

They continue to sell direct to real estate without intervention of brokers, saving to one reliable party in each town or city and giving them the exclusive control of our product for their place of business.

The Alliance selling company is always referred to with pride by Denton county people and justly so

Hon. W. H. Mayfield—Lied

From the Denton Tribune.

Her lips quivered and her breath came in labored gasps. Would he did not speak?

Do you love me?" he anxiously demanded, leaning over her trembling head.

I don't know," she sobbed.

Don't know!" and his eyes shook her.

"Darling," he murmured, "would you like it, have me with your memory lost?"

With a sudden cry of horror she grasped his arm.

"No, no, no!" she shrieked convulsively, "She is a widow. I want you now."

She clung to him until he solemnly promised that he would say nothing to the old lady for the present.

Conversation (to the child): You will notice that the children's right leg is longer than his left, which causes him to limp. Now, what would you do to make him walk right?" Child: I'd limp, too!—[Philadelphia Record.

Fellowman thinks they have a hard time, but they manage to know what bunglars go through.—[Philadelphia Times.

The highest mountain in North America is Mount St. Elias, in Alaska—17,000 feet.

The bailiff, by a peculiar arrangement of his lapels, has a hand hidden in his throat.

LIVERY STABLE.

Buggies, Horses, and First-Class Style.

Ready and Prompt At All Hours.

R. H. MILLER, Proprietor.

Denton, Texas.

Wilson Bros. & Co.,

Denton, Texas.

DEALERS IN

ALL KINDS OF LUMBER.

Denton, Texas.

BEAUTIFUL SANGER.

A CITY IN THE RICH BLACK WAXY LANDS.

Concerning About the Town and Its Surrounding. People—Good Schools, Good Churches and Energy.

Sanger is an all-round good little town, with good schools, about $30 people and about fifteen miles northwest of Denton and is on the Santa Fe railroad. It is built on a beautiful prairie, and is in the midst of one of the richest agricultural sections on the face of earth. It has a very energetic people, which of the interests of the town and section, always the public good. Financially, it is sound, growing, the town has a bright and encouraging future.

The water is good and there is an abundance of it for all purposes. There is no timber on the south to obstruct the southern breeze, and the comfort of the inhabitants is assured at all seasons of the year.

The following are the city officials:

Mayor—J. T. Sanger.

Aldermen—J. G. Sanger, W. S. Mayfield, W. A. Hall, B. F. Gaffer.

Dr. E. Ho

Physician and SANGER.

J. J. and J. H.

Dealers In

Wines, Whiskies, C

Tobaccos, Brandies

Etc., Sanger, Texas.

ALLFREE & HAL

LIVERY STABL

Sanger, Texas.

Mr. Allfree, formerly of Denton, a so brated Stallion by Hambletonian, Dexter, Sire by Mac Clay, by Alexan Mac Clay. She is also the dam of H Clay, 2:19, and Dexter Prince, 2:14, and is a fine, well-proportioned mare, four miles west of Sanger, at $10 to insure.

C. L. SULLIVAN,

Sanger, Texas

Fresh Meats—Beef, Pork and Mutton.

Cash Paid for Hides.

G. W. Sullivan,

Furniture Dealer and Undertaker.

Sanger, Texas.

MILLER HOTEL,

SANGER, TEXAS.

First-Class Accommodations New Beds.

MEALS, 25 CENTS.